McFarland's
BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF
SAFES.

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above unequalled safeguard of property—proof against the devouring element of fire, as well as the most skilful burglar. To MERCHANTS, JEWELLERS, and BANK DIRECTORS, we would only say examine them and the proofs, and you will be convinced of their superiority over all other manufacture.

Our business is done in a plain straightforward way, without resorting to humbug or large talk.

Below is one of the many testimonials we are daily receiving from all parts of the country, and which speaks for itself. Messrs. Pond & Hitchcock's Oil Store was situated directly under the Pearl-st House, and was totally consumed in that great fire of August 23d.

New York, Aug 23, 1853.

Messrs Wm. McFarland & Co.

Gents:—It affords us pleasure to inform you that the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe we purchased of you, preserved our books and papers, at the disastrous fire of the Pearl-st House, last evening, in the most perfect manner. Although it was covered throughout the fire with burning Rosin, and other Oils, and directly under a smoke gas pipe, in the most intense heat, it remained true to its name, and its contents when taken out were not even scorched, and hardly bore the smell of fire. To any one who is in want of a superior Safe, a perfect safeguard against fire, we cheerfully recommend your manufacture, having had a personal experience of their excellence. Yours truly

B. F. POND & HITCHCOCK.

Admirable Invention!

PATENT SELF HEATING SMOOTHING IRON!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery and other modern implements; but females have been nearly neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will relieve them, in a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of Ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and despatch; one cent's worth of dry charcoal supplies fuel for a whole day's constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. Hatters' and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

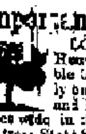
Important Bargains Offered.



LOTS of Land for Rural Dwelling Houses, with large Fruit and Vegetable Gardens, adjoining the city, mostly on the continuation of French St. and Broadway, or the street laid out, 75 feet wide in the range with Broadway, (as it runs from State Street to the Park.) This street is laid out about 150 rods through my lands, extending over the west end of Mt. Pleasant. This land is worth as much higher than the Park, having a commanding view of the city and surrounding country.

Also, Land for Orchard and Farming, on the new State Road to Oldtown, running by Counts' Mills, situate beyond and near the first considerable elevation, having a view of some part of the city on its western side. This land is considered as good as the ground which I live where I have raised over [illegible] bushels of wheat to the acre, (as may be seen on the books of the P. A. Society,) and oats, hay and potatoes in that proportion. Some judgment may be formed also of my land for Fruit Trees by my lots near the city, by examining my bearing trees and our Fruit Nurseries.

My land East of the Mills has a considerable growth of wood on it, and some timber for frames. We can go three turns a day, it being one of the easiest roads running out of Bangor.

Liberal terms will be given on it, and the size of the lots made to suit purchasers. N. HARLOW, Bangor, March 21, 1854.

☞ If any person, not advanced in life, should appreciate the probable results of a few years good business in Bangor, of purchasing land from an original lot, beginning at East Market Square, the northerly part of Lot No. 68, Holland's Plan, is referred to, where three leading and important streets are laid out passing it to our great and important northern and western country, he can now do so. These lots would afford some of our finest seats for elegant Houses and valuable Fruit Establishments, without exception. It is only a strong wish to be relieved from part of my cares, and that of conducting business of this kind which could induce me to sell at this time by the quantity. N. H.

CITY OF BANGOR.

An Ordinance in addition to an Ordinance further providing for the Regulation of the Police.

SEC. 1.—Be it ordained by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of Bangor, in City Council assembled:

That annually in the month of March or April, and at such other times as the Mayor and Aldermen may deem it expedient, a number of special Deputy Marshals, not exceeding twenty in all, may be nominated and appointed as is provided in said ordinance, to which this ordinance is in addition, passed March 7th 1853, and that said Marshals, thus appointed, shall be called "Special Deputy Marshals," and shall be removable at the discretion of the Mayor and Aldermen, and shall each, before entering upon the duties of the office, be sworn as "Special Deputy Marshals," and give bond to the city with sureties to be approved by the Mayor and Aldermen, in the sum of Two Hundred Dollars, for the faithful performance of the duties of his office and the obligations of this ordinance, whereupon said Special Deputies shall possess and exercise, under the direction of the City Marshal, all the powers now or hereafter vested in the same. Said Special Deputy Marshals shall, when on duty, wear a badge with the word "Police" upon their hats or caps.

SEC. 2.—Be it further ordained, That all the special "Deputy Marshals" elected under this ordinance shall be Police Officers, and exercise all the powers authorized by the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act giving additional powers to Cities," approved June 16, 1850, and shall hold their office, unless removed by the Mayor and Aldermen, until others shall be appointed and qualified in their stead.

SEC. 3.—Be it further ordained, That no compensation or salary shall at any time be made from the City Treasury to any of said Special Deputies.

CITY OF JERUSALEM—VISIT TO THE MOUNT OF OLIVES.

(Concluded.)

But with all the lofty recollections, thronging around this memorable place, I could not suppress the thought that it was not its chief honor. It is not the altar but the lyre of David,

"The harp the monarch minstrel swept," which survives most deeply and distinctly in the memory of after generations. The hill of Zion may perish, but I think it may be said of the songs of Zion—destinated by those who have the true insight of poetry as well as religious feeling,—that they have life which cannot die!

With such impressions, I must confess, that my eye was not tired in looking upon the spot which gave origin to those divine songs and odes which bear the Psalmist's name;—poems which embody with such mingled simplicity and power the profound forms of natural and religious feeling, of natural and religious truths, that they descend to the level of the understanding and heart of a child, while at the same time, by their great thoughts and sublimity, they fill and satisfy minds of the greatest breadth and culture. It was there that he gazed upon those surrounding heights and mountains, which still look down upon his burial place. It was there that he walked forth at night, and looked again with his poetic eye upon the deep blue heavens which he had watched and loved when an early life he tended his father's flocks in Bethlehem. "When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers; the moon and the stars;—What is man that thou art mindful of him? And the son of man that thou dost visit him?"

The hill of Zion is often regarded as the type or earthly emblem of heaven. And why should it not be? It is a place, which is lofty and imperial; and the cavernous depth of Gehenna, hardly less terrible than when its fire and smoke ascended, and all far below it. But it is entitled to this distinction, and it's the mind to a better state of things, not only on account of its elevation; but still more because it is the hill of song. Song is that uttered in harmony. Heaven is what it is, because nothing enters there which "loveth and maketh a lie," and because the truth which enters and is embodied in it is in being always consistent with itself, has no discordant sounds; but is always uttering, by the very necessities of its nature, a voice which is full of melody. Heaven, therefore, whatever other attributes may attach to it, is the true beauty of whatever is highest and best in the conception of poetic harmony. And hence it is natural that the place on earth, which has remained to be the sweetest and tenderest melodies, should be the sign and emblem of the inheritance.

But what a contrast of association, as well as of height and depth, may be seen at the great distance. As we approach the edge of the hill of Zion, we look down, almost with dizziness, into the deep valley which bounds it on the south and western side—the valley of Hinnom of the Old Testament; and the Gehenna of the New. In this valley there was once an idolatrous image of the heathen god Moloch, who exacted from his followers the rites and sacrifices of his cruel worship. In those old days it was truly the place of weeping and wailing. Gloomy and terrible in its history and associations, it was afterwards the place where the useless and decaying impurities, the [illegible] and carcasses of animals and malefactors were collected together. And thus was it kept so frequently, and to such an extent that the fires [illegible] were rendered necessary and [illegible] in consuming them, were kept continually burning. This was the place of [illegible] the very image of the heaven-ly world. There was a corruption, these ever burning fires, and the columns of smoke continually ascending, furnishing the terrific figures, which are employed by the writers of the Bible to indicate the opposite of a state of blessedness, and to shadow forth the end of the wicked.

At some distance from Mount Zion, a little outside of the line of the ancient wall, which antiquarians profess to be able with to trace, but within the limits of the modern city, is the rocky height, surmounted by the church of the Holy Sepulchre, where the Saviour was crucified. The Church, which in itself is a history, has been so often described in its length and breadth, in its towers, arches and columns, that I will say nothing in relation to it, so far as its architecture is concerned. The church is adjusted in its foundations, to the hill and rock of Calvary; I had visited it before the time of which I now speak. It had ascended the successive flights of steps, which led to the elevated platform, covering the portion of the rock where the cross is said to have been placed, and where the Saviour was crucified. I had gone down into another part of the church at a little distance, and seen the place where he was buried. A small chapel, not wanting in beauty, is built over it. And many of the pilgrims, from many and distant lands that know him as the.

At such a time and amid such remembrances, I must confess that I had no disposition to think of painting or architecture, or Greek or Jew, of Saracen or Roman, of Helena or Justinian,—not even of prophets and apostles,—but only of that one good and innocent man—the child of Mary and the incarnate Son of God—whose blood, shed upon the elevated rock may be said to re-adjust heaven and earth, by connecting once more the broken links of love, life and immortality.

I am aware of the fact, that some biblical antiquarians have doubted, whether the crucifixion took place on the site of the church of the holy sepulchre. I will not undertake to reconcile and measure the probabilities of a question, which a life's labors would not be sufficient to exhaust. But seated as I am on the summit of the Mount of Olives, with Jerusalem, and the objects around it for miles in extent fully in view, I think I can say without impropriety, even if there is a foundation for the doubt to which I have referred, that my eyes have rested beyond question upon the place where this great transaction actually occurred. Whether it was within or without the walls of the present Jerusalem, it was certainly within the field of vision, as I look outward around from this overshadowing height.

Situated as I am, and looking upon the general aspect of things without always being certain of particulars, it is not necessary in order to see the Son of God led to execution, to confine myself to the traditionary limits of the Via Dolorosa. I can behold the cross erected, whether it was within or without the measurements of the church of the Holy Sepulchre. My mind, without accepting or rejecting the glasses of tradition, avails itself of the aid which this lofty height affords me, to see by the light of its own intuitions and to adjust its localities, and seeing with the heart also, as well as with the outward sight, every thing becomes reality. The Divine scene is before me.—His gushing blood flows down. His dying voice exclaims, IT IS FINISHED. I hear the rending of the vail of the Temple. I see the quaking and the rending of the rocks.

The death of Christ was also the death of a great and venerable system,—a system which had its reason and its uses, but which also proclaimed itself to be only the precursor of another state of things,—less striking in its form but more efficacious in the spirit,—and which should be better suited to the advancing intelligence of the human race. And that sad event, witnessed in the very place which my eyes now behold, while it swept away the priest, the altar and the temple, was at the same time the building up of the inward temple and the inauguration of the reign of the Holy Ghost.

In the passing away of the old system, punishment found the fitting occasion to vindicate its claims and to adjust itself to crime. And, a great nation, which had shed the blood of the innocent, was smitten by the hand of retribution; and the name of its greatness and power forever passed away.

I turned my eye away from the church of the Holy Sepulchre. I looked in a little different direction. I saw on the north side of the city, a little beyond the upper valley of the Kedron, and rising above the road which leads to Shechem and Samaria, a gently ascending but lofty height of land which is called the hill of Scopus. It was on that spot, according to Josephus, that Titus, who had marched into Palestine the three legions which his father Vespasian had left in Alexandria, cast his proud eye for the first time on the city of Jerusalem. This was that Titus, under whose triumphal arch I had stood at Rome, and saw on its sculptured sides the emblems of his victory. Seated sternly on his war-horse like the sculptured Aurelius in the Roman Campedoglio, he is worthy of our attention—and more that he at once seizes and fixes our attention,—because he holds forth in his lofty front and his uplifted arm the marks of the man of providential destiny.

It is true that every man is a providence, that each one, whether great or small, fills a place which no other one can, and holds a link in the great chain of events which can be uplifted by no other hand. But it is not true that every man's providential position and relations are known; and not being known, they are not the subject of specific thought and meditation. It was not so with the son of Vespasian. As he stands under the combined light of prophecy and history, he is exhibited to the world's view a providential instrument, an agent that fulfils purposes not his own; a man of inevitable destiny. Perhaps he knew not his own position, but "the Hinged beast," says an old writer, "that turns the wheel of the mill, though it seeth not, neither knows what it does, yet does a great work a grinding the corn." Neither, his knowledge nor his ignorance would have had any effect in altering the plans of infinite wisdom, and disturbing the connection of everlasting adjustment. The man, the hour, and the destiny had each as he looked once more upon Jerusalem, and pointed out to his soldiers the walls and towers of the devoted city, he bore in that extended arm, feeble in itself but mighty in its relations, the hidden thunders and lightnings of God.

Such were some of the objects, which were presented to my notice. Such were some of the reflections which arose in my mind. I had then stood for the last time upon the mountain, which looked down upon a vast panorama, no more of nature than of great and wonderful events. Resuming my way towards he city, I followed the narrow and winding path, which has been trodden for ages. In coming down from the rocky height, I fell in company with a shepherd, who was driving before him a flock of sheep and goats. The keeper of sheep trod in the footpath of kings. It was over these heights that the exiled David fled from the triumphant Absalom. In a short time he drove the sheep into a rude sheepfold made of rocks. And, again I walked on alone.

At a little distance from me I noticed the traditionary place, where the Saviour is said to have wept over Jerusalem. Reaching the foot of he mountain, I stopped at the gate of Gethsemane. At a little distance on my right was the beautiful chapel and the sepulchre of Virgin Mary. The traditionary belief is that the dust of the m ther reposes near the garden. The garden of Gethsemane is now enclosed by a high wall, which overlooks the channel of the Kedron. I entered it and walked among the flowers, which the land of Christian veneration loveth to cultivate on its sacred soil, and beneath the shade of the aged olive trees, the growth of many hundred, perhaps a thousand years.

And this, I said to myself, was the garden of preparatory suffering;—the sad and memorable scene of one of the most trying periods of the Saviour's life. This was the place of his agony. It was here he kneeled and prayed. "Is it be possible, let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

The world of spirits took an interest in this great struggle. An angel appeared,—strengthening him. His prayer was answered. The will of his Father was accomplished. The Son of God was betrayed into the hand of wicked men. His blood flowed upon the Calvary. Jerusalem was destroyed. But a world was redeemed.

LINES WRITTEN ON VISITING THE GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE MAY, 1858.

Chide me not for yet! 'Twas here
Earth of the Saviour's grief and to
He knelt;—and oft the silent tear
Mingled his sorrow with thy soil;—
When in the Garden's fearful hour,
He felt the great temptation power.

Here was the proffer'd bitter cup.
"Thy will, not mine." The Saviour said,
His faith received, and drank it up,
Amazed the baffled tempter fled,—
Repulsed, with all his hate and skill,
I adore an acquiescent will.

Oh man! In memory of that hour
Let rising murmurs be repressed
And learn the secret of thy power
Within a calm and patient breast.
"Thy will be mine," 'Tis that which rolls
Their agony from suffering souls.

Such is the lesson that I fill,—
Here in the Saviour's place of tears—
The lesson, that the trusting mind
His strength to conquer griefs and fears;
And doom'd upon the cross to die,
Finds death itself a victory. U.

Loan of the City Credit.

Our correspondent in our columns to-day treats the subject of granting the loan of the city credit to aid the construction of the Penobscot and Kennebec Railroad, and also the Milford and Lincoln Railroad as new subject, upon which no action has been had, no views expressed, and no time given for investigation. This is hardly proper, and certainly not fair, although so far as accepting the law since it has passed the Legislature, he is correct.

We do not see that there is the slightest occasion for alarm, regarding this matter. The citizens of Bangor have had the subject of granting the loan of the city credit to aid in the construction of the two railroads under long and anxious consideration; they have had placed in their hands copies of a bill drawn for the purpose of authorizing the grant; they have discussed the subject in private, through newspapers and in public meetings, and voted in approval of the bills which have passed into a law, authorizing the grant after the approval of the law by the legal voters of Bangor; and the issue of certificates when the Mayor and Aldermen shall be satisfied that the Companies have expended the amount named by the people and in the law as satisfactory.

The simple practical question now before the people is this; shall the two railroads named be aided by a grant of the credit of the city upon simple and satisfactory security?

The answer to this simple question involves, this is the bare possibility, the merest remote possibility, in no ways a probability, that the city may, in long years to come, have to provide for the payment of the money and take the railroad. It involves also the issue whether these roads shall be built at all, or the work be suspended until private capital shall, by and by, in the doubtful and tapering future be induced to carry on the work after all the money of our citizens now in the stock shall have been hopelessly sunk in the subterranean depths.—A long, blue, lingering period of isolation, privation and despondency.

The people of Bangor, from first to last, have been very strongly in favor of having these two railroads completed, and as this is impossible without the aid of the city credit, they have repeatedly shown their readiness to grant that credit, and we do not believe that they will falter now.

We have not the time or space to-day to remark further upon this subject, but shall refer to it again.

Dissolve a bushel of salt in water enough to slake five or six bushels of fresh lime; the fine dry powder slaking the lime no faster than wanted for immediate use, applying it to the muck pile hot, and covering it once more with muck. Use at least three bushels of fresh lime will to every well for five loads of muck, of about one-half cord each; but a bushel of lime to a load of muck would be better. It is an important point in composting to mix the materials nicely; and hence the more of muck and lime ground be thin and frequent—say the muck four inches and the lime in the right proportion—so that the lime may act effectually in neutralizing acidity and promoting decomposition. After lying three or four weeks or longer, the heap should be thoroughly overhauled. This mixture makes one of the best fertilizers of fertilizing manures that has yet been discovered as all manures, solid and liquid, should be done with the mixture as he so doing a twenty per centage of value usually lost may be saved. Indeed it is estimated that for the want of composting, and the wasteful manner of the agriculturists that eighty per cent of its real value as a fertilizer is lost.

Starling's Notes.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

The Whig and Courier of Saturday has official notice from the City Council, of a meeting required to be holden by the qualified voters of this city on the eighth day of May next, to determine by their vote, a question of greater import to them than has at any time heretofore been submitted for their consideration and action, viz: to determine whether they will or will not accept an act of the Legislature, that is alleged by our City Council to have been passed on the first day of March, A. D. 1854, by which said city was said to be authorized to aid the Kennebec and Penobscot and Kennebec railroad to a certain amount. It would seem to be a necessary consequence of accepting such law, that all property owned notoriously by qualified voters, but all property, owned by persons resident in said city who have not yet availed of that privilege, but are taxable here, will be bound to pay whatever sum may be authorized by virtue of said law to be raised by said city.

To put it, it seems strange that our City Council should direct the inhabitants to meet and vote understandingly on the subject of accepting or rejecting a law that has never been published, and the terms and conditions of it are wholly unknown to all that portion of them who are not stockholders in said road. It must have happened that the notice for said meeting was written by the hand of the City Clerk to be published in your paper soon after it was intended by the Council to have been done. Or, perhaps, the solicitude of some members of the Council may have caused them to suppose that a law which has never been published, and which is exceedingly penal in its nature, may be obligatory upon the citizens and residents of a free state or municipality in like manner and as full as the unwritten law under an absolute despotism, and therefore caused the meeting to be notified.

Being desirous of acting understandingly, if I must act personally, or be bound, not only myself, but my property and by helps, by the action of others, I desire that an opportunity may be furnished to our citizens of knowing what is the reason for acting with so great haste as to preclude many of us from knowing what the law is, or in considering the operations of its provisions. It might also be desirable to be informed, by what means the City Council became possessed of that law before the Legislature that passed it, and has a right to repeal it, is adjourned. Also, to know for what purpose the tax payers, who are not stockholders in said railroads are kept in ignorance of their liabilities under that law.

☞ The following we clip from the Eastern Freeman, the Democratic organ of Hancock county, for the purpose of showing how far those Northern men at Washington, who have followed the Administration in favor of the Nebraska bill, have departed from the people, even of their own party:

Doane McDonald on Nebraska.—In the House of Representatives (Congress) Mr. McDonald of Maine delivered himself of a speech of which the telegraph reports as follows:

"The House then went into a committee on the general appropriation bill when Mr McDonald of Maine, spoke on the Nebraska bill. He said that the resolutions of the Maine Legislature were not indicative of the public opinion in that State, and denounced their request that their delegation would oppose the bill, as arrogant and impudent."

Such is the hard hood and unblushing impudence of a member of the House from Maine, who thus attempts to misrepresent and pervert the legitimate expression of public sentiment of this State relative to that uncalled for and much deprecated measure. We can but believe this to be a willful misrepresentation of his constituency, for he could not be ignorant of the universal contempt with which this measure is received in this State. The five votes which his project received in the Legislature of Maine over represented the public feeling throughout the State, and of this we doubt not that Mr McDonald will be made aware when he returns home, if he cannot learn it at Washington.

The grant of ten millions acres of public land, to be distributed among the States to ameliorate the condition of the indigent insane, passed by the House yesterday, and known as Miss Dix's bill, failed to become a law, the President's signature being denied to it.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer says:

"The Nebraska confederates have arranged for a forced effort to pass the bill on Monday next. A distinct offer was made to the Hard Shells yesterday, that all the pending Soft Shell appointments should be rejected if the Locofocos would vote for Nebraska. Mr Angell's rejection was given as proof of the final repudiation of the Soft Shells by the Administration. Anti-Nebraskans should return forthwith."

We learn, says the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, that Mr. C. Carroll Tevis, well known in that city, has applied for and received an appointment in the Turkish army, as aid to Gen. Guyon, with the rank of Lieut. Colonel. He has taken the name of Neskem Bey, and by the last advices was on his way to Trebisond, and from thence to Kars.

Any suggestions which may be induced by an examination of the tables of the United States Census for this county (or Parish, or Town, as the case may be,) should be forwarded at an early day, to Mr. DeBow, superintendent of the Census office at Washington with a view to the correctness of other publications from that office.

"Write me down—an ass."

"A Glenburn Farmer" is out again in the Whig of this morning, upon one of his favorite topics. He has long since fulfilled the injunction of ancient Dogberry quoted above. Can he add to his reputation by pursuing the subject? He is undoubtedly writing for fame. Is it not his already? Is not the atmosphere in which the "Glenburn Farmer" moves redolent with "potato rot" and "mildew." Will he not be satisfied and repose awhile upon his laurels? But, Mr Editor, I will be serious with this "Glenburn Farmer"—this impersonation of "potato rot" and "mildew." For years he has been boring your readers with his pompous nothings, to the exclusion of other matters.—He has affected a great deal of wisdom and knowledge upon subjects which, of fact as your readers know, from anything he has written, he is as ignorant as any of them. He has been at sea with his "potato rot" and "mildew" for years, with no more prospect of a harbor than he had when he started. Why don't he let his bark founder and escape to land if he can—Advise him to this course, Mr. Editor. If he will write; let him address the United States Executive and both Houses of Congress, upon the milk of the cocoanut. But ask him in mercy to spare your readers from any more writing upon the old subject with which they are most thoroughly disgusted. If he does exhibit himself further, so will one of the Obituary.

Died suddenly in Corinth, March 26th, Miss Harriet N., daughter of Charles and Sophronia C. Blake, aged 18 years and 8 months.

It must be a source of consolation to surviving friends to know that few persons of her years are more largely in the kingdom of those around them, than did the subject of this notice; that, adding to a naturally mild and retiring disposition, a quiet, unassuming department, she won for herself the love and esteem of all who knew her.

Another and a higher ground of support in their affliction is the belief that their loss is her gain. Several months previous to her death, and while in the enjoyment of her usual health, the deceased obtained hope of forgiveness through Jesus Christ. Although she did not open her mind very fully upon the subject, to her parents, they noticed the change, and were led to hope that she had become a subject of God's renewing grace. On her Sabbath school teacher, however, she expressed, in direct terms, her belief, that God had pardoned her sins; and though she did not, on earth, publicly profess faith in the Savior, it is believed that she now dwells with Him in heaven. And may He, who has again afflicted this dear family, soundly sustain them in this season of trial.

While we who left behind to mourn,

Thou hast a golden crown to wear,
We hope to—and hear a voice,

O, yes, dear one, I now can hear,

They're spirit tones that come to tell
That death is over, and all is well,
O send some angel spirit round,
To soothe the grief and heal the wound.

That death has made within our hard,
Or cause thy sad to heal the wound,
Be present in our sport and mirth,
To render pure the joys of earth.

Be present when we meet at even,
Be present when alone we grieve,
Be present in our social hour,
And there a guardian angel stand.

Then will, then will be often near,
And when we retreat for morning prayer
Be present then to teach us how,
Before our Saviour we should bow.

"The Glory of Man and the Graceful Ornament of Woman."

☞ What is there more glorious or more beautiful than to see a rich, luxuriant head of hair on either man or woman? And when the rich treasure of Wo'man begins to decay by disease then is important that we have some preventive or cure! There are a thousand different preparations brought into use, purporting to prevent hair from falling off, or causing a new growth when the head has become bald; but all of little or no use, and very often injuring the diseased roots more than aiding their growth. But there IS an article which has recently been discovered in New York, which WILL prevent Hair from falling out, and is guaranteed to produce a good growth of Hair on heads that have become bald. We have one case in Boston of an elderly lady who has used it and who is willing to certify to the truth of the above. And to induce people to try it, the Wholesale Agent of Bangor offers for a reasonable sum to put up to a good head of Hair on any one who will try it thoroughly, in three months time, or no charge for the article. Now, come one, come all, it costs you nothing to try it. The preparation is called HURD'S HAIR RESTORER. Read the following certificate from a gentleman well known in this city, as well as New York:

New York, Dec. 9, 1853.

Mr. Hurd—Dear Sir—I have been bald for the past five years, and as my father's and grandfather's family were bald at an early age, I was considered hereditary, and thought impossible to produce new hair on my head, and indeed every thing failed, until I was induced to use your Hair Restorative. I commenced using it about six weeks ago, and where my head was then bald it is now covered with a vigorous growth of new hair; and there is no doubt it will produce hair on any bald head.

Yours truly, C. FARANDA,
Daguerreotypist, 307 Broadway.

A Wonderful Discovery has recently been made by Dr. Curtis of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. We refer to "Dr. Curtis's Hygeian, or inhaling Hygeian Vapor and Cherry Syrup." We like the new method Dr. C. has instituted, many afflicted as we personally know, as an evidence of which, he has innumerable certificates. Speaking of the treatment, a physician remarks:—It is evident that inhaling—constantly breathing an agreeable vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the aerial cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion. The Hygeian is for sale at all the druggists throughout the country.—I see the New York Daguerreian of January 14th, has advertisement of Medicated Inhalation in another column of this paper.

Dr. Richardson's Cherry Pine Bitters have been sustained through more than one entire generation, not with a liberality unknown to any other medicine, one an instance is not known by the proprietor, where they have not been of benefit to those using them for the cure of complaints as recommended. In not one long continued unwavering support by the public, of the Cherry Pine Bitters, sufficient evidence of its superiority over every other medicine offered to sale? It is manufactured precisely the same, and the component parts are the same, as they were at its first introduction. It contains no special substance whatever, and the public may be assured what it is the same Richardson's Bitters which, throughout the New England States, the present time, gave to them boast their virtues and not been so often spoken to extend

DO NOT FORGET,

If you have a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, or any thing of the kind, that Peyton's Expectant Compound, a pleasant remedy, has ever failed to cure. Here is many cases:

"Having been afflicted with a severe and obstinate cough (after trying other articles in vain,) I obtained a bottle of Mr. Pitkin's 'Remedial Compound,' which entirely removed my cough in a few days. Its effects were also very beneficial upon a friend to whom I recommended it.

Information Wanted.

ON the 11th of April inst, Melissa Jane Patten, daughter of Charles W. Patten, of Bradley, left the house of Mr. Adam Blackman in Bradley, where she had been living for nearly a year, for the concealed purpose of visiting her mother, who was on a visit to the child's grand-father in Etna, her husband being in the woods. Melissa started for school, as the family supposed, but revealed her purpose to a school mate she met on the road, since which nothing has been heard or can be learned regarding her. She was thirteen years of age, very straight, large of her age, with blue eyes and brown hair, round favored and small features; wore a dark delaine dress, red hood and faded shawl, her poorest school dress.

Whoever will give information where Melissa may be found, or where she may have been seen, will confer a great favor on an afflicted and anxious family. Intelligence may be directed to the office of the Bangor Courier.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY

The Greatest of the Age!

MR. KENNEDY of Roxbury has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two Bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will cure the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst cases of erysipelas.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humors in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running in the ears and blotches in the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of Scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs nor ands, hums or haws about it, suiting some cases but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old, to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

Roxbury, Sept. 8, 1853

This is to certify that H. H. HAY, Druggist, Portland, is the only AGENT for DONALD KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY for the STATE OF MAINE, and that I have supplied him the GENUINE, direct from my Laboratory.

WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF

PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

THIS valuable medicine which has received the sanction of the medical faculty, by whom it is regularly prescribed, and which has been tested successfully by thousands of invalids is one of the most remarkable preparations ever offered to the public for the cure of

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, SPITTING OF BLOOD, AND ALL COMPLAINTS OF THE LUNGS.

Pure Cod Liver Oil has long been acknowledged to be the most efficacious article for the cure of Consumption and kindred diseases yet discovered while the chemical properties of the PHOSPHATE OF LIME are also well known to medicine as having peculiar healing ... In cases where ulceration has taken place on the lungs, this article has been found by the most careful test to supply the very ingredients necessary for the formation of cells and the complete healing of this delicate part of the human system.

This preparation of the pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime robs the oil of its very nauseating taste which renders it so repulsive, particularly to invalids. The thorough ... of the Phosphate of Lime with the Oil has also been accomplished by the adoption of the most perfect rules of chemistry, and a remedy has thereby been produced which is of inestimable value in a climate like our own.

A long array of certificates might be given here to prove the efficacious character of this medicine but it is not deemed necessary. The fact that from the very first introduction of the Cod Liver Oil and Lime before the public, it has been gradually adopted by the medical faculty, is sufficient proof of its ... for sale wholesale and retail by

Invigorating Cordial,

A

Phenomenon in Medicine.

Health Restored & Life Lengthened by

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixir, or Cordial.

For centuries Medical science has been ransacking the vegetable and mineral kingdoms in search of something that should restore the lost or decaying energies of the nervous and muscular systems, without the drawback of subsequent prostration, which is far more ... That something has been found ... from the East by the celebrated Professor Morse ... a physician, chemist and traveller ... this is the concentrated and combined with other ... vegetable medicinal extracts ... The properties ... of Prof. MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELIXIR OR CORDIAL were deemed fabulous. The public often deceived ... but facts undeniable ... incredulity is overthrown by a mass of testimony which is perfectly irresistible.

The ELIXIR ...

REBUILD THE BROKEN CONSTITUTION.

The derangements of the system ... are so numerous that it would require a column to enumerate the maladies for which ... a specific. A few, however, may be enumerated, viz: neuralgia, tic doloreux, headache, incipient paralysis, hysteria, palpitation of the heart, spinal affections, muscular debility, tremors, flatulence, a pricking sensation in the flesh, numbness, torpidity of the liver, mental depression, weakness of the will, indisposition to move, faintness after exercise, broken sleep and terrifying dreams, inability to remain in one place or position, weakness of the procreative organs, sexual incompetency, melancholy, monomania, fluor albus, sinking at the stomach, female irregularities, a chronic tendency to miscarriage, emaciation, and all complaints growing out of a free indulgence of the passions and all barrenness that does not proceed from organic causes beyond the reach of medicine.

Whenever the organs to be acted upon are free from malformation or structural disease, it is averred that ...

MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELIXIR.

Will replace weakness with strength ... and that not only without ... a happy effect on the general organization ...

CURE OF NERVOUS DISEASES.

No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the diseased, debilitated and shattered nervous system, whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness ...

LOSS OF MEMORY,

Confusion, giddiness, rush of blood to the head, melancholy, mental debility, hysteria, wretchedness, thoughts of self destruction, fear of insanity, hypochondriasis, dyspepsia, general prostration, irritability, nervousness, inability to sleep, diseases incident to females ...

A GREAT MEDICINE FOR FEMALES.

The unparalleled effects of this great restorative ...

EVERY WOMAN OF SENSE

Who suffers from weakness, derangement, nervousness or pains in the back, or any other disorder which ... the Invigorating Cordial a trial.

MARRIED PERSONS,

or others, will find this Cordial, after they have used a bottle or two, a thorough regenerator of the system ...

PERSONS OF PALE COMPLEXION, or consumptive habits, are restored by the use of a bottle or two to bloom and vigor, changing the skin from a pale, yellow, sickly color to a beautiful florid complexion.

TO THE MISGUIDED.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects of the early habits of youth, viz: weakness of the back and limbs, pains in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the digestive functions, general debility, symptoms of consumption, &c.

Mentally the fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. All thus afflicted should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness; indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.

PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

are often misled with respect to the causes and sources of disease in their sons and wards. How often do they ascribe to other causes of wasting of the frame, idiocy, madness, palpitation of the heart, and nervous derangement of the nervous system, cough and symptoms indicating consumption, when the truth is that they have been indulging in a pernicious, though alluring practice, destructive both to mind and body.

CAUTION.

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Cordial has been counterfeited by some unprincipled persons.

AYER'S PILLS,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC,

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity, but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable, are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient, they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physician is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body, and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine.

ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y. ...

For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma, for the last two years have suffered beyond all my power of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing, and my sufferings were at all times so great that ... together my friends expected ... my life. During the ... physicians but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at last had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffocating for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the Inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup, I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is—try it.
